Submission of Manuscripts
Clinical Cancer Research, a journal of the American Association for Cancer Research, publishes original articles describing clinical research on the cellular and molecular characterization, prevention, diagnosis, and therapy of human cancer. Its focus is on innovative clinical research and translational research which bridges the laboratory and the clinic. Clinical Cancer Research is especially interested in clinical trials evaluating new treatments for cancer; research on molecular abnormalities that predict incidence, response to therapy, and outcome; and laboratory studies of new drugs and biological agents that will lead to clinical trials in patients. All submissions undergo peer review. Papers should be sent directly to an appropriate Senior Editor or to the Editor-in-Chief for review. See “Instructions for Authors” (page ii of this issue) for complete mailing addresses of the Editor-in-Chief and Senior Editors.

Institution of Page Charges

Effective January 1, 1997, a page charge of $35 per printed page will be levied on all manuscripts published in Clinical Cancer Research. It is understood at the time of submission that the author(s) agree to pay this charge in the event of publication. Under exceptional circumstances, when no other source of grant or other support exists, the author(s) may apply to Dr. Margaret Foit, Director of Publications, AACR Publications Department (see page ii for address) at the time of submission for a waiver of the page charges. All such applications must be countersigned by an appropriate institutional official stating that no funds are available for the payment of page charges.

Annual Meeting

The AACR’s Annual Meeting is one of the largest and most important annual gatherings of scientists engaged in cancer research worldwide. The next Annual Meeting will take place in San Diego, CA, April 12–16, 1997. The Chairperson of the Annual Meeting is Frederick P. Li of the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute. Clara Derber Bloomfield of the Roswell Park Memorial Institute and Stanford O. Fred Hutchison Cancer Research Center will serve as Co-Chairpersons. The Program Committee will invite outstanding scientists in the field to organize plenary sessions, concurrent sessions, and plenary sessions, and meet-the-expert sunrise sessions. They also look forward to receiving for consideration for presentation the papers of members of the cancer research community. The deadline for abstract submissions is November 12, 1996. All abstracts must be sponsored by an AACR member in good standing.

Call for Nominations for Honorary Membership

As stated in the Association’s By-Laws, “Honorary membership shall be open to distinguished scientists who have made extraordinary contributions to the advancement of cancer research. This shall be construed to be either outstanding personal scientific activity in cancer research or exceptional administrative leadership in cancer research.” Honorary membership in the AACR is reserved for a select, small group of investigators; there are currently only 21 honorary members of our total membership of more than 11,000. (See Page 1 of the current AACR Directory of Members for a list of honorary members.)

The Special Memberships Committee will review all candidates for honorary membership and will determine whether to recommend any candidates for election by the Board of Directors. Members wishing to make nominations for honorary membership should send a letter describing the outstanding achievements of the candidate. Since this person will be, by definition, a prominent researcher, the nominator does not need to supply a curriculum vitae or reprints. Nominations should be submitted by November 1, 1996, and may be sent to the Association Office.

Gertrude Elion Cancer Research Award

Applications for the AACR’s 1997 Gertrude Elion Cancer Research Award, supported by an educational grant from Glaxo Wellcome Oncology, are due February 14, 1997. The one-year, $30,000 grant to a nontenured Assistant Professor supports meritorious basic, clinical, or translational research in cancer causation, prevention, or treatment. Tenured faculty in academia, government employees, and employees of private industry are not eligible for this award. Information and application forms were mailed to AACR members and to those who requested applications. Nonmembers should request information and applications from the AACR office.

AACR

The American Association for Cancer Research (AACR) was founded in 1907 to bring together active investigators of the cancer problem for the presentation and discussion of new findings and to foster advances in cancer research. Today the Association has more than 11,000 members working in all of the subdisciplines of cancer research in the United States, Canada, and more than 50 other countries. Information on AACR programs and activities can be obtained from:

American Association for Cancer Research
Public Ledger Building
150 South Independence Mall West
Suite 816
Philadelphia, PA 19106-3483
Phone: (215) 440-9300
Fax: (215) 440-9313

The AACR welcomes applications for membership from the readership. Scientists engaged in all areas of cancer research are eligible for membership. There are three categories of membership: active membership, open to cancer researchers working in the Americas; corresponding membership, to those working outside the Americas; and associate membership, to graduate and medical students, postdoctoral fellows, and physicians-in-training. Further information on the qualifications for each category as well as the benefits of membership can be found on the application forms at the back of this issue.

AACR Research Fellowships

This year the AACR will offer three new one-year, $30,000 grants to clinical or postdoctoral fellows. A research award for a postdoctoral/clinical fellow in clinical/translational research will be sponsored by Amin and an award for a fellow conducting clinical research will be sponsored by Bristol-Myers Squibb Oncology. A research award for postdoctoral fellows in basic research will also be available. To be eligible for these fellowships, candidates must have completed the M.D., Ph.D., or other doctoral degree. Candidates must currently be a postdoctoral or clinical research fellow and must have been a fellow for at least two years but not more than five years prior to the year of the award. All Active and Associate AACR members in the U.S. and Canada will receive information and an application form by mail. Nonmembers may request information and forms from the AACR office. The deadline for applications for the research fellowships is February 14, 1997.

AACR Minority Scholar Awards Supported by the National Cancer Institute

Funds are being provided through the Comprehensive Minority Biomedical Program of the National Cancer Institute for the travel of a limited number of minority students to the 1997 AACR Annual Meeting. Eligible scientists are full-time predoctoral students, postdoctoral fellows, and physicians-in-training in the early stages of their careers who are either engaged in cancer research or who have training that could lead to contributions in this field. This travel award program applies only to minority groups that have been defined by the National Cancer Institute as being traditionally underrepresented in cancer research; these groups are American Indians, African Americans, Hispanics, Native Alaskans, and Native Pacific Islanders. Only citizens of the United States and Canada or scientists who are permanent residents in those countries may receive one of these awards.

Although preference will be shown to authors of abstracts that have been accepted for presentation at the annual meetings, this is not a requirement for the award. Preference will also be given to new applicants. Awardees will be selected on the basis of their qualifications, references from mentors, and an estimation of the potential professional benefit to the Awardees. An advisory committee consisting of members of the AACR will review submitted applications and letters of reference. The award will consist of partial support of registration, travel, and subsistence expenses incurred in connection with attendance at the annual meeting.

Applicants will be chosen from minority institutions as well as the larger bodies of universities, colleges, and research organizations. Awards are made to the applicant’s institution to permit a minimum of 3 days of attendance at the annual meetings. If accepted, applicants will be expected to participate in all planned activities for the Awardees. They are required to submit a report commenting on the scientific sessions they attended at the annual meetings and the minority scholar program.

Further information and application forms are available from the AACR office. Letters of reference should accompany the application. The deadline for receipt of applications is December 1, 1996. Grants from this program are also available for attendance at AACR Special Conferences taking place in North America. The brochure for each meeting contains all the necessary information.

AACR Special Conferences in Cancer Research

A number of meetings are now being organized in the AACR’s series of smaller scientific meetings. Following are the topics, dates, locations, and program committees for some of these meetings. When full details of each meeting are available, AACR members will be the first to receive complete brochures and application forms for participation in these important conferences. Nonmembers may receive this information by sending their names and addresses to Meetings Mailing List, American Association for Cancer Research, Public Ledger Building, 150 South Independence Mall West, Suite 816, Philadelphia, PA 19106-3483. Telephone: (215) 440-9300. Fax: (215) 440-9313. E-Mail: aacr@aol.com.
