As scientists and clinicians seek to translate knowledge from the bench to the bedside, the Journal is especially interested in clinical trials that bridge the laboratory and the clinic. The Journal also prioritizes laboratory and animal studies of new drugs and molecule-targeted agents with the potential to lead to clinical trials, and studies of targetable mechanisms of oncogenesis, progression of the malignant phenotype, and metastatic disease.

Clinical Cancer Research is abstracted and/or indexed in Current Contents/Clinical Medicine, MEDLINE, Science Citation Index, Scopus, and Web of Science.
